Sampler Notes

This stack contains well over 300 small graphics and is intended to be a sample of our entire SuperClipArt collection as well as music and silhouette clip collections in progress. We collected this sample kind of at random with an emphasis on small. Please click on "SuperClipArt Collection" on the page after next for a description of our collection.

This sample is free for your use. If you like the graphics, order more! We believe all art in this collection is in the public domain, however, it is "found" art, much of it on the Internet before the Web came along. We don't guarantee it for commercial purposes and if you spot something you recognize from a commercial, copyrighted collection, please let us know and we'll remove it. Please email with questions or comments.

Use the navigation arrows you see at the top of the screen or the links on the next page to navigate.

Our "SuperClipArt" collection has been created from the most basic graphic types for easy of use for various educational purposes. These are referred to as "bitmapped" or paint style graphics, depending on who you talk to. They don't take much memory and transfer easily to other programs which use graphics. However, they don't resize well and don't print as cleanly as larger, more complicated graphic types.

This sample has been created from a HyperCard stack using Adobe Acrobat and Adobe Acrobat Reader is required to use it as well as all Windows versions of our clipart . The only disadvantage we found so far is that the clipart selection tool is a rectangle and will require some touching up of some graphics in other programs before using them. It may be hard to select some graphics without getting pieces of others. We'll work on that as well as improving our use of Adobe Acrobat as we go along.

SuperClipArt

We started developing our graphics library of edited public domain art for teachers two years ago. Generally, our goal is to collect art in the simplest, most useful file formats we could, so our art is all "paint" format or occasionally files which can be opened with MacPaint or similar programs.

From that material and new material, we've created our SuperClipArt Collection in which we've put most of the material into easy to view and use stacks like this one. Stacks and other files are shipped compacted on HD disks except where otherwise noted.

SuperClipArt**

SuperClipArt 1 - Cartoon ClipArt : 800k stack filled with quality drawings of everything from Disney to Garfield and other well known cartoon characters.

SuperClipArt 2- SchoolYear ClipArt: A huge stack with nearly a thousand images for use through the school year. Beginning with back to school clip, it includes graphics for most holidays as well as school events throughout the year. This is a huge stack with lots of art for teachers! This is shipped on an HD disk.

SuperClipArt 3- Tiny ClipArt for Teachers - This a stack made of clipart which can fit in a 2" by 2" box or less. It has 8 to over 100 images per card on seventy cards for over 2600 images of a variety of subjects. Shipped with picture fonts for an alternative access to some of the art.

SuperClipArt 4 - Fantasy and Sci Fi ClipArt - over 1400 k of science fiction and fantasy images, edited especially for educators. It contains everything from a few Star Wars and Star Trek images to lots of castles, dragons, fantasy and space folk and lots more. Full size paint files of some art is included on the disk.

SuperClipArt 5- NASA ClipArt - Over 48 photos and about a hundred pieces of clipart (line art) in an over 1200k stack. Stack includes four color pics and a Quicktime movie viewer (System 7 and Quicktime extension required) and is shipped with a separate NASA Mars Aerial Photos stack from Weber Engineering, a folder containing the plans for two models which can be printed and built and (if space permits) Earthrise Color StartUp Screen.

SuperClipArt 6: Elementary Teachers ClipArt - Anybody can use this, but the goal of this stack was to collect light-hearted, line drawings on a wide variety of topics, especially suitable for use with elementary students. This stack is our best yet and contains well over 1000 images and is shipped compacted, on an HD disk.

SuperClipArt 7: Maps Collection- This stack will contain the state capital building, motto, bird, flower, and an outline map of each state. Shipped on a disk with other shareware and public domain U.S. Geography material.

SuperClipArt 8: Teachers Desktop Publishing Stack- This is a collection of low-end (no complicated programs needed), easy to do, HyperCard desktop publishing projects for teachers and students. It contains lots of useable art, templates, and examples, as well as tips, suggestions and detailed directions for using HyperCard to print memos, notes, certificates, books, reminders and lots more. Use it to create your own or just add names and use what we've included!

SuperClipArt 9: Teachers Holiday ClipArt Stack - A 1500k (and growing) stack containing over 800 pieces of holiday, seasonal, and special event clipart compacted on an HD disk.

SCA9 Supplement 1-This features extra material removed from the other disk due to its size. Religious ClipArt and Santa ClipArt Stack are two of the stacks included along with paint files of holiday related material. This is a great bargain for SuperClipArt 10: People & History - Over 1400 k.

SuperClipArt 11: Animal Art: Every public domain image of an animal, fish, bird, reptile (dinosaurs too!) we could find, compress and fit on an 1400k disk. A huge collection of paint graphics. Note: This is a huge collection of paint files, not yet a stack. Not available in Windows version.

SuperClipArt 12: Animal Art 2: This disk contains the rest of the animal, bug, bird, reptile, ocean and so on art we've been able to find so far. Note: This is a huge collection of paint files, not yet a stack. Windows 95 version not available.

SuperclipArt 13: Transportation ClipArt - A stack of over 1400k with trains, autos, airplanes, hot air balloons, blimps, ships of all kinds, antiques, military, horse and buggy and lots more. The most complete collection anywhere.

SuperClipArt 14: Sports ClipArt - A small collection of public domain sports clip.

SuperClipArt 15: Science Teachers Clip - This is a collection of science related art in paint file format. Excellent for illustrating student papers and tests.

SuperClipArt 16: Borders & Backgrounds - This is a large collection of public domain borders as well as unique borders and backgrounds we've developed at SchoolHouse Mac. This is in a full-page sized stack. Borders can easily be exported in paint file format for use with most paint programs.

SuperClipArt 17: Buildings and Places - A collection of buildings and places, both famous and unknown, and man made and natural.

SuperClipArt 18: Teachers Dino ClipArt A smaller collection of scanned photos and dinosaur drawings. Some of the art in this stack duplicates art available in paint file format on SuperClipArt disks 11 or 12.

SuperClipArt 19: Light-Hearted Art - Simple line drawings of animals, people and so on. Most of these look like cartoons although none are drawings of recognizable cartoon characters.

SuperClipArt 20: Misc. ClipArt: A large collection of clipart which just doesn't fit anywhere else.

SuperClipArt 21: Line Art Animals - Simple, useful drawings of animals.

SuperClipArt 22: More Animal Art - Pict style graphics of animals not included elsewhere. Windows version not available.

SuperClipArt 23: Small ClipArt - New clipart in the style of Tiny ClipArt except that clips fit into a 2" by 2" square or smaller rather than a 1" by 1" square.

A note to those who may not have heard of us:

SchoolHouse Mac was formed in the wake ill-fated "Teacher's of Tomorrow" program started by Michigan's then Governor Blanchard. Through a simple process, requesting small grants for computers, thousands of teachers acquired Macintosh Classics and ImageWriters. The only requirement was that school systems had to guarantee payment for the computers if the state changed their mind. Good Deal!

Our small system received more non-lab computers than we'd ever had at one time. The Classics were placed in the hands of kindergarten teachers, special ed teachers, teacher's nearing retirement, home ec and gym teachers, teachers at all grade levels and levels of expertise. One, four hour workshop was held which left approximately one third of the teacher's involved unaware that software had been installed on their hard drive. True story! One second grade teacher didn't use her computer for four months because she was waiting for software, not knowing that Microsoft Works was on her hard drive.

Of the twenty-four computers that came into our system, approximately twelve were never touched by students. Of the remaining twelve, about six were never used for anything but drill. The remaining six Classics were used with varying degrees of effort and creativity.

As we tried to get help in various places, we found that much of what was available was aimed at "high-end" users and businesses. Little seemed to be available to people who wanted to use Macs in the classroom at their simplest level.

During this period, we realized we needed help and, as we looked at what was available for the relatively new Macs, we also realized we would have to provide much of that help ourselves. So SchoolHouse Mac was formed.

SchoolHouse Mac is a K-12 teacher's Mac user group, formed in response to a need for help using the Macintosh in the classroom and in response to a need for more programs, art, ...everything!, to use with it. We've been gathering public domain and shareware programs, tools to use to develop more and lots of information for over three years now.

Purpose

SchoolHouse Mac promotes educational uses of the Apple Macintosh by offering support to K-12 teachers, parents introducing their children to computers and, in some cases, students. Teacher's Mac™, published by SchoolHouse Mac, is a means of presenting programs and information to these various groups.

Foundational assumptions are that children need to handle technology, "electronic print", and lots of information to cope with life in coming years.

Benefits

Members of SchoolHouse Mac will receive the a catalog issues of Teacher's Mac™, which will contain our most recent catalog, the diskletter and approximately 1000k of the best material and programs we have gathered in the previous months. Members will also receive a discount and some mailings keeping them informed of events.

Subscriptions

Membership dues are $12.00 a year. Membership entitles holders to one issue of Teachers Mac (with our yearly electronic catalog) per year and a 12% members' discount orders of 10 disks or more. (Subscriptions not included.) In addition, members can purchase all of our non-subscription material for $4 per disk. Non-members pay $5 per disk.

Or membership is included in the $29 subscription fee of Teacher's Mac or the $38.00 subscription fee of Teachers Mac Plus or Teachers PC, all of which are published six times a year. These three publications are identical except that Teachers Mac Plus and Teachers PC include more material and Teachers PC currently requires Acrobat Reader to read.

Membership is also included in Teachers Mac Web, the web based version of our newsletter for Macintoshes, which costs $24 per year. Access our web site with the password (new each edition), and choose from about 2000k of compress material. Every thing that's on Teachers Mac Plus is included and more.

SchoolHouse Games (published 6 times yearly) is available for $18.00 shipped on an HD disk (1400k). Please note that this subscription doesn't include membership.

SchoolStuff (published 6 times yearly) in your choice of edition, Elementary, Middle and High, is available for $18.00 shipped on an HD disk (1400k). Let us save you time with this subscription by bringing you the best new material on the web. Please note that this subscription doesn't include membership.
